About Me

I'm Pratik Bhoite, completed a diploma in computers and interested in web development. I've done various projects and love learning new programming languages and experimenting with different web development frameworks. In my spare time, I explore new technologies and take online courses to enhance my skills. I'm a dedicated and passionate web developer with a strong desire to continue growing and contributing to the field.

Experience

intern

During my core Java internship, I gained valuable experience and knowledge in the field of Java programming. I worked on various projects that helped me to understand the different aspects of Java. Throughout my internship, I learned how to use various tools and frameworks such as Eclipse, Maven, and JUnit. These tools helped me to streamline my workflow and work more efficiently.
